SEN support

What is SEN?

Some children find learning more challenging than others and may need extra support to achieve their full potential.

For example, they might have difficulty with:

- Expressing themselves
- Interacting with others
- Reading, writing and maths
- Following lessons
- Controlling their emotions
- Sensory or physical mobility

These difficulties can be barriers to learning. Schools assess all children to identify their strengths and needs and how they can best be supported.

Children who need extra help with their learning may receive additional support under one of the following categories:

- SEN support
- An EHC plan

What is SEN support?

SEN support describes the additional help that assists children to access the curriculum.

This might include:

- Extra help in the classroom
- Small group or one-to-one learning
- Support from specialists such as speech and language therapists

Schools must work with parents when agreeing what support to provide and what it will achieve.

The SEN support category replaces the previous categories of School Action and School Action Plus.

What are EHC plans?

The educational health and care plan is for children who have special educational needs (SENs) and/or disabilities. Your child's needs will be assessed by education, health and social care professionals to see if you should have an EHC plan.

The EHCP assessment and planning is designed to focus on agreeing individual outcomes and the support needed to achieve these. The plan will be tailored to each child's needs.

FAQs

How will the school decide what type of support my child receives?

Every child's needs are different and may change over time. The school should assess each child's needs closely to identify which support suits him/her best.

The school should also regularly review the support your child receives to see what is working and what isn't and incorporate your views on this too.

How do I know if my child needs SEN support?

If your child is not making expected progress for his/her year group, he/she may need SEN support.

The school should discuss your child's needs with you before placing your child on SEN support.

What if I think my child needs further support?

Please speak to your child's class teacher or our SENCo Mrs. Bartlett

Schools often use the 'wave' system to determine the type of support best suited to each child:
